

Business Disaster Recovery

Invariably, a company's biggest assets and risks after those of a financial nature are those related to information and data. Of companies who have faced a major disaster such as fire or theft, over 80% of those without data backup and disaster recovery in place went bankrupt within 2 years.

There are 3 main technology areas that are at risk and can effect businesses; internal information and data, Internet connectivity and online presence. Many single and multiple site SME's hold their critical data and essential services purely in their offices or just on one main server. This results in a high level of risk.

At CORETX we specialise in providing 100% uptime and security to protect you from the results of disasters when using such a setup. We will ensure that all of your data remains available in the event of fire, theft or other data loss. We can also ensure that should you loose an office/site, then your staff can continue to work as before from either home or another location with no interruption. Secondly, without Internet connectivity, many businesses would now become crippled due to the loss of e-mail, Internet services and in some cases voice calls when using VoIP. All of this not only costs in the form of lost business and productivity, but has a substantial cost in staff unable to complete their job. CORETX ensures that your Internet connection does not go down.

Increasingly, businesses are thriving using e-commerce. Uptime is therefore essential to ensuring that your customers can buy from you at any time. Can you afford to lose deals as a result of basic connectivity issues? You can lose your online presence via many different scenarios; your hosting provider going offline, Denial of Service Attacks, data corruption, hacked servers and very high demand to name just a few. CORETX can protect you from all of these to ensure your data is safe and your presence never goes down. Usually for less than the cost of a standard providers solution.

CORETX support trading desk platforms, credit card companies, FTSE 250 companies and some of the UK's largest e-commerce sites. These companies cannot be offline at all if their businesses are to thrive. At CORETX's network our top priority is keeping you online, permanently.
